

Vertical vs. Maximum Height Measurements

Vertical height is measured in a vertical line at any given point on the property.
Maximum height is the lowest point of the structure to the highest point of the structure.

Structure Complies With Height Requirements

Structure Does Not Comply With Height Requirements

Because Maximum Height is greater than 34' (limit in R-E Zone)
Different zones have different height requirements.

